

<Marine Organism Rearing Log>

9 AM, February 13, 2023

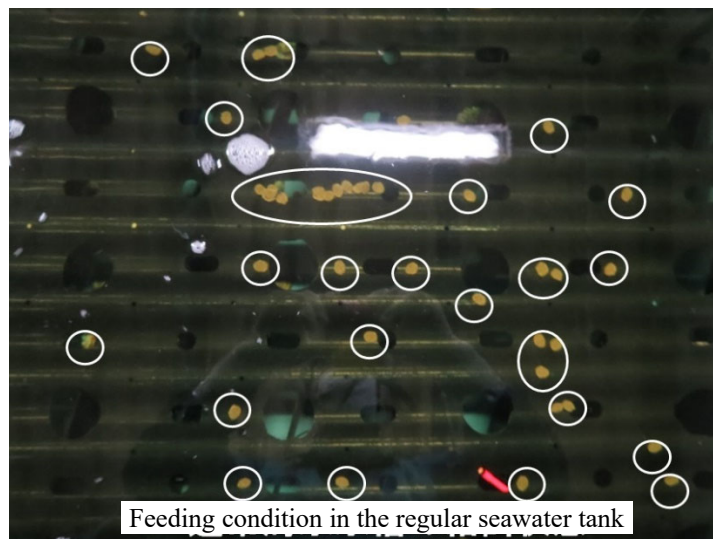

Weather: Rainy

Water temperature: 18.4°C

We check the feeding consumption status of our marine organisms besides their growth (length and weight) during our rearing test. The flounders rush and bite into their feed at feeding, but since the abalones are nocturnal, we rarely see them feeding. So we check the leftovers of their food the next morning.

Feeding condition in the ALPS treated water added tank

Feeding condition in the regular seawater tank