Weather: Sunny

Water temperature: 18.1°C

Flounder and abalone live at the bottom of the ocean in dim light, so we have put blinds on the side panels of the aquariums to reduce the amount of daylight entering the tanks. However, we were concerned that the tanks far from the windows were too dark to enable the creatures to differentiate between day and night. So, we decided to turn on the LED lights during the daytime, just like in the training facility.
