

Visit to the Fukushima Daiichi Nuclear Power Station by the IAEA review mission to assess the safety of ALPS treated water (September 8)

<Reference Material>

September 9, 2021

Tokyo Electric Power Company Holdings, Inc.
Fukushima Daiichi D&D Engineering Company

- The International Atomic Energy Agency (IAEA) will perform a review to assess the safety of the discharge of water treated with multi-nuclide removal equipment (ALPS treated water) into the sea at the Fukushima Daiichi Nuclear Power Station and provide advice from the perspective of international experts.
- To kickoff this mission, IAEA review mission executives have come to Japan and were given a tour of ALPS related facilities at the Fukushima Daiichi Nuclear Power Station on September 8.

High-ground area

IAEA executives visiting Japan
(Center: Lydie Evrard, IAEA Deputy Director General)

Photos taken by Tokyo Electric
Power Company Holdings, Inc. on
September 8, 2021

K4 tank area

Exchange of opinions at the power station (↑ ↓)

On the sea side of Units 5 and 6

ALPS treated water

Photos taken by Tokyo Electric Power Company Holdings, Inc. on September 8, 2021